

Dear Annie;

Happy Birthday!

I don't even know where to begin, because words will never be enough to express how much you mean to me. After all those ups and downs we've been through, we are becoming a perfect match. The long distance between us will never weaken our affection toward each other. I believe this always and will continue to do so in the future.

Let's make more memories, laugh a little louder, and dream even bigger this year.

I wish you all the happiness, laughter and love that you deserve today and always.

Your sincere
Klein